WEATHER OPERATES AS DETRIMENT ON TRADE.

Phonocial Conditions, However, Are Fxceedingly Good-Grain Markets Are Somewhat Easier.

Trade in the week ended on Nov. 1 was somewhat disappointing in volume, owing 7 Windsor ex. C. 4.43c; 8 Ridgewood ex. to the mildness of the temperature. Especialy was this noticeable on Commission row, where sales of fruits and vegetables were limited to immediate requirements, retail handlers preferring to let the commission houses lose by the rotting of such | 620 per shable articles. Irish and sweet potatoes are firm at quotations and are moving as 'reely as would be expected under prevailing conditions. Cabbage is moving fairly well, but at low prices. A year ago cathage brought double the money now paid. The canned corn situation has not loss one element of its strength, packers delivering but a part of amounts contracted for and wholesalers acting with considerable independence in the matter of ma ing sales. There is an excellent demand. Tomatoes are maintaining the positios held for some time, but have not yet ced as some jobbers thought they would before this time. Dried fruits are all steady at old prices. Groceries are devol 1 of new features, prices holding steady. Coffee is unchanged and is causing some anxiety among dealers over the outcome of 'he situation in South America. Sugar quetations. Cranberries are very firm and in active request. The market is over in active request. The market is oversto ked with pears and grapes, which sell low, Butter, eggs, poultry and cheese are firm at quotations. Butter and eggs probably will advance with colder weather. Little game is offered, but it is in good request. Dry goods houses had a quiet week. Confectioners report trade good, as do the from and hardware merchants, and, sum-

INGENIOUS FLIM-FLAM.

A Scheme That Has Puzzled Even the Up-to-Date Barkeeper.

New Orleans Times-Democrat. the real thing," said an old detective, "is away ahead of any of the old tricks I know anything about. It has been worked but once in New Orleans, as far as I know, and if it has ever been worked in any other place I do not know anything about it. The business of finding a ing. 49@61c c. i. f. Buffalo. called; the lock trick-which, by the way, is one of the smoothest of the whole list-and all the bu. Spot easy; No. 2 red, 77%c elevator, others are cheap and clumsy in comparison with the clever scheme that was worked on a downtown barkeeper a few evenings ago. It shows one thing, and that is that the criminal classes are quite as active, mentally and otherwise, as men who are engaged in the decent | ers, who felt disheartened over big receipts callings of life. They are probably more active mentally than the men who are ground into narrow grooves because c. ceaseless toiling in an effort to keep the wolf away. The new film-flam scheme is wonderfully simply, and is worked with paper money. A 31 and $5 bill are needed. Of course, bills of larger denomination could be used, but the two men who worked the trick afloat; No. 2 yellow, 69c; No. 2 white, 69c. here used the bills of the first denomination—a Options, after a firm opening on wet weath-$1 and a $5 bill. It is worked in this way: One er, dropped off in sympathy with wheat, of the men will write in thin lettering on the back of the $5 bill what is supposed to be a list of his laundry. For instance, in this way: One shirt, two collars, two pairs of cuffs. He will go into a saloon when there is a rush on, in order to further minimize the possibilities of the barkeeper's detecting the scribbling on the bill, and will call for a drink. "The money is put in the drawer, the man gets his drink and his change and walks out. Directly his partner walks in, calls for a glass of beer and tenders a $1 bill in payment. The barkeeper throws out 95 cents in change. 'You've made a mistake, old man,' the purchaser will say; 'I gave you a $5 bill.' A polite wrangle follows. The fellow is insistent; says he only had one piece of money, and that was a $5 bi and he remembers to have jotted down a list of his laundry on the back of it. He calls for the boss, tells him of the dispute and asks him to Connellsville coke, $11; lump coke, 19c per lars, two pairs cuffs' written on it in pencil. bu, 14.75 per 25 bu; crushed coke, 20c per bu, $5 Sure enough, the bill is found, and the man gets see if he has a $5 bill with 'one shirt, two colper 15 bu. Bags. 25c per ton extra, ground floor his $4.95 in change. This is the scheme they sumped in collar; 50c per ton extra, second worked on the man downtown, and he had no idea he had been swindled until he thought over it for some time, and then the whole plot dawned on him. It is a clever scheme, but one that will not last, as barkeepers are awfully quick to get on to tricks of this sort."

Gambling in Society.

Although, in a general way, the assertion that gambling by young men of fortune is decreasing is true, a part of the average wealthy bachelor's income must be deducted as a tribute to the Goddess of Fortune. He plays occasionally in a gentleman's game of poker. After a stag dinner he may try roulette or faro in one of the gambling ouses that are nominally run as private clubs These private gambling houses are expensively ing men. There is no ostentatious scrambling winnings in them, nor does the loser bewait his losses. They are run in accordance with the strictest ethics of the gamblers' code. To one of these houses last winter a young bachelor of New York took his friends one evening after dinner, and when he had finished playing he gave he proprietor his check for $250,000 to balance heir accounts. Bridge whist has proved even nore expensive to many an unattached man than oker or faro, because it has flourished as a social diversion in which women might join withlosing caste. One young woman, whose so-position is unquestioned, said proudly at the era last winter that a diamond necklace which he wore had been purchased with her bridge anything but a reason for congratulating her on her skill. Another woman, a matron in whose train may be found the wealthiest and the poor-est bachelors of New York's smart society, gave a series of Saturday night bridge-whist dinners and the play which followed them was so high that several fashionable preachers found timely and so far reaching has been its influence during the past five years that few young bachelors of wealth have escaped it. These forms of "dispensing wealth like a gentleman" must not be overlooked in cataloguing the actual expenses of the millionaire bachelor, and to them should be added a good many different kinds of wagers

LIQUIDATION AND BEARISH STATIS-TICS DEPRESS WHEAT MARKET.

Corn Dull, with Some Selling Pressure -Oats Weak and Active, and Hog Products Sell at Declines.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.-Dullness prevailed on the Board of Trade again to-day, and with general liquidation prices had a downward tendency, December wheat closing 1/2c lower, corn, %c lower and oats %@1/2c down. January provisions declined 121/2c to 271/2c. Statistics were all against wheat and the market ruled weak throughout the day, with the exception of some steadiness early. Longs again threw a lot of stuff on the market, and with no support prices declined steadily. Large primary receipts and rapidly accumulating stocks were the principal bear features. Selling by the Southwest was also a weakening influence. World's shipments were estimated at about 12,000,000 for in the visible supply. December opened a shade lower to a shade higher at 721/200 72%c, and after holding fairly steady the first hour, gave way, and the price dropped to 72c. The close was 1/2 lower at 72@721/8c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 729,000 bu. Primary receipts were 1,593,000 bu, against 1,130,000 bu a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 880 ears, which, with local receipts of 121 cars, seven of contract grade, made a total of 1,020 cars a year ago. Weakness in wheat affected the corn market, and after a fairly steady opening prices weakened. With the lower tendency stop loss orders became general and these offerings lent an impetus to the downward trend. There was little demand for May, shorts being about the only buyers, while longs had a considerable amount to offer. Trading in December was light, and there was a wide fluctuation on limited transactions. The close was weak, December %c lower at 50\%@50\%, after selling between 50\%c and 51%c. Receipts were 274 cars, fifty-seven of

1,001 cars, against 1,032 cars last week and contract grade. Oats ruled weak, particularly May, selling by commission houses influenced by weakness in other grains. Trade was of larger volume than of late, with the local sentiment decidedly bearish. The close was easy, December \%@\\chic lower at 29\chic@29\chic, after selling between 29%c and 30%c. Receipts were 274 cars.

Provisions were subjected to a steady selling pressure from longs. The market was extremely weak throughout the day and the close was lower. Large receipts of hogs and lower prices at the yards were the depressing influences. January pork closed 271/2c lower at $15.321/2, lard 20c lower at $9.121/2 and ribs 15c down at $8.10. Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 110 cars; corn, 210 cars; oats, 230 cars; hogs,

There have been frequent fluctuations in prices this week, but they have not been as extensive as for two or three weeks preceding. The early part of the week there was a down-ward movement in values, but about the middle of the week prices began to strengthen, and in two days values had gained enough to make them 5@10c higher than the beginning of the week, but the heavy end at the high time was fully 10c lower than the close of last week. At the extreme close of the week there was another reaction in prices, leaving the average 5@10c lower than the high time and about the same as last Monday. Local packers have been very liberal buyers all week, and most of the time they were encouraged by a good healthy demand from outside sources. The quality generally has been satisfactory, and there has been a smaller proportion of inferior pigs. The highest price this week was $6.90 and the lowest top price $6.75. The receipts to-day were fully up to expectations and around 1,000 larger than last Saturday. The market opened with a very fair request from shippers, and, with a good demand from local packers, the initial sales were only about 5c lower. It soon developed, however, that there were not many shipping orders, and the conditions weakened rapidly. Aside from the first the case is believed to be favorable, and the and after the demand from all sources had been well supplied there was a dull market, and there is no doubt that closing sales in instances at least were 15c lower than the high time yesterday. It was difficult to get a buyer for a few loads that came in late, and the market closed very weak. Sales ranged from $6.35 to $6.85, and the bulk of the hogs sold above $6.50. A PATHETIC STORY.

Self-Denial of a Family for the Father's Sake.

Eighteen years of age and alone at the national capital, fighting for the freedom of her father, Joe Martin, who has been in prison for fourteen years, convicted of murder in the Indian Territory, is the story of Miss Dora Martin, a comely young lady of Yell county, Arkansas, who has laid the case of her parent before the Department of Justice and has good reason to hope that the dream of years of her family will Miss Martin arrived in Washington some ten days ago, and since that time has been a con-Last July Miss Martin started from her home. which is about 100 miles west of Little Rock. saved to provide for the trip. Single-handed and alone, she bravely set forth on the journey, going first to Columbus, O., where her father is now incarcerated. His child was only four years old when Joe Martin was committed to prison. There was, of net. The father looked on a daughter strong brave, hearty and loving. The daughter saw a father bent with years and the pallor of prison casting its sickly hue over features that had hopeless after long years of languishing behind prison walls. Leaving her father, the girl next went to Indianapolis, where she secured from the district attorney, who was in the Indian Territory at the trial, a recommendation that the man be pardoned. Then she came

"It was a long trip," said Miss Martin, "bu to Washington.

I'm here, and the papers have been sent over to the President and he is going to sign them. I never went to school in my life, and we have saved everything ever since I was a little child to get papa out of jail. Mamma, my sister and two brothers-all of us-have worked so hard." The girl's face beamed as she thought of the forthcoming pardon. Joe Martin was sent to prison, charged with killing Ernest Adams, both parties residing at that time in the Indian Territory. A watermelon was the indirect cause of the tragedy There had been some quarrel over this trifle, and Adams swore that he would kill Martin, and set out to hunt for him. One day he approached Martin's house with a Winchester. Martin was seated on the porch with two children in his lap, one of them the daughter who is now seeking his release. Adams calmiy an-nounced to Martin that he was there to kill im. Martin replied that he had not even a senknife with which to defend himself and implored that he be not murdered before the very eyes of his loved ones. Adams then made him walk away from the house down a path, keeping the Winchester aimed at his head. distance from the house some one was heard coming from the rear. It attracted Adams's attention and threw him off his guard. Martin took advantage of his opportunity and seized the rifle, a terrific struggle ensuing for the Winchester was fired, Adams released his hold and the last seen of him he was running fast lown the path. A body was found afterward in river, but it was never identified as that on the body were not those of her husband. Martin, therefore, contended that even if Adams was killed the killing was in self-defense and, perhaps, he was not killed at all. Not-withstanding, he was given a life term, first be-

Reply to the People Who Are Wanting the Bible in Schools. New York Independent. Well, which is it, literature or religion? If it is religion, we will have none of it. There is a curse upon state religion. It makes men hate the church. That is the persistent trouble in Italy, in Spain, in France, and now in England. Give us a free church in a free state and let their scope be kept absolutely distinct. Trust no state to teach your children religion, and do not think to impose your New Testament Bible and your Lord's prayer on Old Testament Jews.
